Age Of Propaganda The Everyday

In The Age of Propaganda, social psychologists, Elliot Aronson and Elliot Pratkanis take a look at the persuasion tactics used in advertising and politics. They look at the topic in great depth and discuss research findings from experiments, many of which they conducted themselves. Though the book is intended as a tool to educate people to be more aware of the ways in which they are persuaded, it is likely to have a large audience of marketers and politicians who wish to learn how to ...

Persuasion has always been integral to the democratic process, but increasingly, thoughtful discussion is being replaced with simplistic soundbites and manipulative messages. Drawing on the history of propaganda as well as on contemporary research in social psychology, Age of Propaganda shows how the tactics used by political campaigners, sales agents, advertisers, televangelists, demagogues, and others often take advantage of our emotions by appealing to our deepest fears and most ...

Propaganda in the Information Age is a collaborative volume which updates Herman and Chomsky's propaganda model for the twenty-first-century media landscape and makes the case for the continuing relevance of their original ideas. It includes an exclusive interview with Noam Chomsky himself. 2018 marks 30 years since the publication of Edward Herman and Noam Chomsky's ground-breaking book Manufacturing Consent, which lifted the veil over how the mass media operate. The book's model ...
